Beauty and the Beast: Cultivating Radiant Beauty From Within

with Michael Greer, MD

Seminar Approach

In looking at a patient, the practitioner is able to quickly access the health of that individual. A patient's desire to look good and feel good can motivate compliance to health measures they might otherwise neglect. In this seminar, Dr. Greer educates the practitioner about how health translates to beauty via hair health, skin health and nail physiology. What does a patient's appearance tell you about their health issues? And how do health issues undermine a patient's appearance? Dr. Greer will recommend a comprehensive, physiological approach to health and beauty, incorporating herbal and nutritional supplements that promote both health and beauty inside out, and discuss how to motivate patients to aspire to beauty through health. He will also discuss gluten, celiac disease and leaky gut syndrome.

Seminar Elements

- ❖ Hair as a Measure of Nutrition and Health
- ❖ Skin Health and Prevention of its Disease Manifestations
- ❖ Nails as a Measure of Nutritional Deficiencies and Diseases
- ❖ Leaky Gut Intestinal Permeability
- ❖ Gluten Sensitivity – What is it?
- ❖ Celiac Disease: Overrated or Misunderstood?
- ❖ Laboratory Testing for Celiac Disease – How to Make and Confirm the Diagnosis
